Hi Maurice,

Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)

Yes, your presentation was interesting. With respect to your potential next project, all I can say is treading water is changing to attempting to move with the current—with about as much clarity as where land is or was.

Nancy/Ken: I will be working with Lonquist our third party consultant to start the application process and as you pointed out last week, we could initiate the project identifier on the EPA online system which I am planning on doing this week. I hope you found the presentation useful and informative last week and we certainly look forward to getting the application filed.

I see that the Texas is getting their plans together to seek primacy for CO2 sequestration as well (link below), we have an interesting project as well near Port Arthur that we may be approaching both the EPA and the TRC in the near future.

Hope you folks had a safe and enjoyable Memorial Day Holiday.
